¶ Soviet Cuba. A spokesman for an anti-Castro exile group claimed in Miami that a commando unit had staged a midnight raid on a small fishing port on Soviet Cuba's northern coast, killed "no fewer than 20 enemies, including some Russians." Note: U. S. officials in Washington said they knew nothing of the raid. There was mounting belief in the Capital that attorney James B. Donovan was acting as a government agent in his negotiations to obtain the release of the 1,113 surviving Bay of Pigs invasion POWs. Secrecy shrouded the Administration's role, but the feeling persisted that Federal funds might be used. One report said the U. S. would underwrite $13 million in medicine and food to supplement private ransom funds.
